Pastors Rap Gambling 'Wink'

Demand Citizens Step In

Official Apathy Hit In Pulpits

Mansfield ministers, in sermons Sunday, called for citizens to take a hand in the local gambling situation.

Rev. C. W. Stoneburner of the First Methodist church and Rev. Matthew G. Madden of the First Congregational church both made brief references from their pulpits to recent disclosures of gambling activities.

Rev. Stoneburner struck out vigorously at official Mansfield's apparent inclination to "wink" at gambling, violence and rats.

Speaking on the subject, "Transforming the Wastelands," Rev. Stoneburner likened the desert spaces in the world to the "wastelands" of individual lives.

NOTED 'WARFARE'

"I have noticed a bit of warfare going on between the News-Journal and our mayor," Rev. Stoneburner said.

"It seems that our mayor is out of town or unwilling to comment whenever the subject of gambling is brought up.

"Who is responsible for the large amount of gambling in Mansfield? Certainly men who are elected to public offices must assume the responsibilities that go with the office.

"If a cafe on Main street can be bombed, what is to prevent our homes from being bombed?

ALSO SPEAKS OF RATS

"There also is the matter of rat control. We all know rats are detrimental to health.

"There seem to be wastelands in our official public life."

Rev. Madden said that the religion of Jesus was a process of the soul whose development depended upon daily exercise. And in developing, the Christian must substitute an appearance of indifference with moral action.

"It must be quite discouraging for a city editor, bringing to the mind of an entire community, a social evil, to be met with a spirit of apathetic indifference," he said. "The city of Mansfield is a beautiful city in which to live and we must not permit it to sink to the status of a gangsters' rendezvous.

"If our city is to maintain its moral respectability within the state of Ohio, then there must be concerted, moral action among its citizens."

Bomber Held For Inquiry

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia—(U.P.)—A war surplus American flying fortress, which made an emergency landing here last night, was grounded by airport officials today pending an inquiry into the legality of its projected trans-Atlantic flight—presumably to Israel.

Dartmouth airport officials said the plane would not be allowed to take off until its status was cleared up. The old bomber's cargo consisted of spare aircraft parts, the officials said.

Captain I. R. Chandler, pilot of the four-engined plane, reported it encountered heavy weather and was running short of gasoline when he decided to land at Dartmouth. The plane had taken off from White Plains, N. Y., four hours earlier.

Changes Made By Collision

CLEVELAND —(U.P.)— A fast New York Central passenger train smashed into a tractor-trailer truck loaded with 12 tons of paint and jelly today.

The results:

The NYC locomotive was painted white, the trailer, originally 28 feet long, is now only 14 feet, an alley cat had jelly for breakfast.

The truck driver, Harold Stevenson, 26, of Chicago, suffered only bruised knees as he was thrown from his cab.

Berliners Defy Red Blockade

BERLIN' —(INS)— Thousands of Berliners rallied today behind the efforts of the Western Allies to break the Soviet economic blockade of the former German capital.

More than 10,000 Germans pledged at a mass meeting to make Berlin "the Stalingrad of German liberty.' Other thousands poured out to the Templehof airport to watch American planes bring a record-smashing 2,500 tons of supplies to the beleaguered former German capital.

While the western powers awaited the Soviet reply to their protest demanding immediate lifting of the blockade, American Ambassador to Britain Lewis Douglas, and Australian Premier Joseph B. Chifley conferred with General Lucius D. Clay, American military governor.

Meanwhile, reports spread that Marshal Vassili Sokolovsky, the Russian military commander in Germany, is being removed from his post.

Sokolovsky has long been reported a target of Soviet officials critical of what they term his "conciliatory" policy toward the west.

The Berlin mass meeting of Germans, sponsored by the Social Democrats, heard Ernst Reuter, a former communist, denounce the methods of the Soviets as being like those of the Nazis.

PRESSURE INCREASED

Soviet authorities meanwhile were reported increasing the pressure on the 2,000,000 inhabitants of Berlin's three western sectors.

The British-licensed newspaper Sozial Demokrat charged that residents of the western section are being denied admission to Berlin's central community hospital, which is in the Russian sector.

Soviet - controlled German railway officials were quoted as saying that repairs on the Russian-blocked Berlin-Helmstedt railway, the rail link between Berlin and the western occupation zones, will be completed "as soon as possible."

The officials were reported, however, to have given no indication as to when this will be.

Soviet authorities closed the railroad for "technical reasons."

Jet Planes Start Flight

DETROIT—(U.P.)—A flight of 16 U. S. air force jet fighter planes took off from Selfridge field today on the first leg of the initial trans-Atlantic crossing by the craft. The planes are headed for Germany.

The first four P-80 shooting star jet planes roared aloft today and streaked away into the northeast toward Dow Field, Bangor, Me. They were followed at five-minute intervals by three more flights of four.

The takeoff was two days ahead of schedule and was advanced to take advantage of ideal weather conditions over the Atlantic, Air Force officials said. Personnel of the 56th Fighter group manned the flight.

Officers denied that the flight was hurried because of reports that the Berlin crisis may be coming to a head.

The small planes will be shepherded across the ocean by two B-29 superforts equipped with droppable rescue equipment in case any of the jets gets in trouble and is forced down.

Bomb Clues Still Hunted

Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab said today that police still are tracing down clues which might lead to the identity of the man who planted a bomb at the rear of the Crescent cafe on the morning of July 5.

"At least we haven't run out of clues as yet," the chief said. He did not indicate that the detectives have anything "hot" to work on, but said that no possibility is being overlooked.

Water Too Shallow

BUFFALO, N. Y. —(U.P.)— John Vinquist, 53, a Cleveland, O., contractor, died of a broken neck after diving into shallow water at Chautauqua Lake. Vinquist, vacationing at the lake, dove off a dock into 32 inches of water.

Arabs Lose Strongholds

Israeli Army Sweeps Forward

TEL AVIV — (U.P.) — The Arab town of Ramle surrendered today, completing the army of Israel's greatest victory of the war which toppled two enemy strongholds on the southeast approaches of Tel Aviv and removed a long-standing threat to the capital.

Ramle, transport hub with a normal population of 15,000, gave up a few hours after Jewish forces captured Lydda, twin citadel three miles to the northwest.

The collapse of resistance at the two biggest towns the Arabs held on the coastal plain three open the way for the Jewish mobile forces to sweep down on Latrun to the southeast. Latrun is the core of the Arab blockade of the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv highway.

The Ramle surrender was unconditional capitulation to the Jewish forces charging in to crush the last nests of resistance.

The signers were Ismail Nahas, son of the mayor of Ramle, and Alexander Chernovitz for the army.

Nahas said the main forces of the Arab legion here pulled out last night when the fall of the town became inevitable. The Arabs retreated toward Latrun, he said. With all approaches thrown open to the converging Jewish forces, the town surrendered.

Actress Leaves $100,000 Estate

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—The will of the late Carole Landis will be read today before members of her immediate family and it is estimated the value of her estate will be less than $100,000.

An earlier belief that Miss Landis may have executed a later testament than her 1941 will was discarded. It is understood her present will names Miss Landis's mother, Mrs. Clara Landis, as the chief beneficiary.

Railroad Promises Action

Police Warn Driver As Train Speeds Near

The third narrow escape at the East Fourth street crossing within a week brought promises of action today from both Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab and Pennsylvania railroad officials.

Police arrived at the crossing early Sunday just in time to avert a serious accident. They said they flagged down a car "just as the engine of a fast passenger train reached the crossing.

Officers said the gate was not lowered until the train was almost past. The watchman, Clarence King, who said he took over the gate for a "friend," said he had fallen asleep. A bottle of wine, one drink missing from the contents, was found on a table in the tower, officers said.

Police said they sped to the crossing about 3:30 a. m. Sunday on a report from Wade Schaff, Westinghouse policeman, that several trains had passed through the crossing without the gates being lowered. There are no other warning signals at the crossing.

Police Chief Schwab said police were unable to hold King on any criminal code charge Sunday but he asserted that he would seek the assistance of City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch "to see if any action can be taken.

HUMAN ELEMENT'

Meanwhile, George F. Prie, trainmaster for the railroad, promised "close policing of the crossing" adding that the "human element made it difficult to obtain good care of the crossing.

"We've made three changes in watchmen during the past month, but we're having difficulty in getting qualified men, intelligent enough, to work for the money paid for the job.

"We'll continue to make changes if the men do not measure up," he added.

Prie said the gates were presently in good repair and that the signals, given to watchmen for approaching trains, were also in good shape.

RULES VIOLATED

Prie said King's position at the tower at the time was "certainly not in accordance with regulations."

"No watchman can delegate his responsibility at a post to another man," the trainmaster stated.

Prie said King and the unidentified "friend" both would be questioned and that disciplinary steps would be taken.

Two other narrow escapes were reported to police on July 4 when Bill Keefe, 135 Rae avenue, and Hollis Moorhead, 501 Lexington avenue, said they "just missed being struck" by trains at the crossing because the gates had not been lowered.

At that time, Joe Cantrell, watchman at the gate, told police he had been having trouble with the gates. Police said the gates were lowered later and apparently with no trouble.

Viaduct Will Reopen Soon

Workmen started laying the floor today on the overhauled Mulberry street bridge. Street Supt. E. W. Davis said the viaduct should be opened for traffic by Aug. 1, at the latest.

The bridge has been closed for three months for repairs.

Delivery of the wood planking needed to complete the repairs originally was promised by the Baker Wood Preserving company of Marion by May 17, but the treated lumber did not arrive until the middle of last week.

The bridge has been painted and the steel girders made safer for passenger and vehicular traffic at a cost of $4,935.

With the opening of the viaduct, traffic that has had to detour via South Main or Crouse street will be able to continue straight down Mulberry street, expediting the flow of north-south traffic.

Jail Inmates Won't 'Sing'

Refuse to Talk About Smuggling

Inmates of the Richland county jail have taken a "know nothing" attitude about the smuggling into the jail of six saw blades on June 12.

Sheriff Frank E. Robinson said today none of the inmates suspected as in the "know" will admit participating in the escape plot. Robinson said four or five are suspected in the case. They are bound over to the September grand jury.

Meanwhile, Virgil Chaney, 29, of Mansfield, R. D. 2, was held in the jail he had attempted to get others out of.

Robinson said Chaney admitted Saturday to attaching the six blades to a wire let out by prisoners on the night of June 12. Chaney had been released from the jail that day.

Prisoners had filed two bars, making a 14-inch square opening in the inner set of bars. They had been able to squeeze through the opening, starting to work on the bars in the third-tier window at the east side of the jail when deputies discovered the escape attempt.

Prosecutor Theodore Lutz said the investigation was continuing and that an affidavit against Chaney probably would be filed today.

Church Lets Nuns Adopt New Garb

BISMARCK, N. D.—(AP)—Catholic nuns in North Dakota will be permitted to don civilian dress next fall so they may conform to the new state law banning teachers from wearing of religious garb in public schools.

The authorization was given by two ranking members of the Catholic church in North Dakota.

In a joint statement yesterday, Bishop Vincent J. Ryan of Bismarck and Auxiliary Bishop Leo Dworschak of Fargo said the church has no objection to Catholic nuns donning respectable secular dress to comply with the new North Dakota law.

The act was approved at the June 29 primary election by a majority of about 10,000 votes. Called the "anti-garb" act, the law prohibits any public school teacher from wearing garb denoting membership in a religious order. It was sponsored by a group of protestants.

DELEGATES GO HOME

INDIANAPOLIS —(U.P.)— Delegates to the North Central jurisdictional conference of the Methodist church returned to their homes in nine states today after electing and consecrating four new bishops.

For World's Orphans, Widows

Carload of Grain Sought For CROP

A concentrated drive for a carload of grain or cash contributions between July 25 and Aug. 1, is being organized throughout Richland county under the sponsorship of the Christian Rural Overseas program, Rev. R. W. McNary, chairman, announced today.

The accumulated grain will be divided impartially among widows and orphans throughout the world, Rev. McNary said.

The plan for the campaign will include every church in the county Rev. McNary said. Each church is asked to set up a committee to canvass families within its area. Cash contributions are to be given to the treasurer of each committee and in turn are to be turned over to Richard E. Wolford, Mansfield, R. D. 2, treasurer of CROP.

Groups or individuals may also leave contributions at the Richland Trust company, Mansfield Savings Trust National bank, The Farmers Savings and Trust company and the Citizens National Bank and Trust company.

Grain will be received at elevators and Farm Bureau units in the county.

"All any farmer has to do," Rev. McNary explained, "is to tell the elevator managers and Farm Bureau personnel how many bushels he wants credited to CROP. This will be collected when the grain is delivered. Any grain will be received but the final makeup for overseas shipment will be wheat."

Members of the CROP committee include besides Rev. McNary, chairman, J. W. MacDonald, Mrs. Max McFarland, A. A. Mellick, Harry Stroup, Gail Hammett, Warren Smith, Richard Wolford, Oliver Rinehart and Miss Mabel Spray.

Pepper, Laney Buck Truman On Nomination

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia — (AP) — Justice William O. Douglas took himself out of the vice presidential picture today as the Democrats opened their convention, wrangling over naming President Truman to head their ticket and over their platform.

Despite the fact that Truman is regarded as a sure winner of the nomination, plenty of fireworks were in prospect. Die-hard critics of the President are determined he shall not have the nomination without a gesture of opposition on the convention floor.

Dixie rebels settled on Gov. Ben Laney of Arkansas as the man they will back. And Senator Pepper of Florida declared himself a candidate.

While delegates were still straggling into this hall for the first session, party leaders announced downtown that Douglas had given what they regarded as an "absolute refusal" to be considered for the No. 2 spot on the party's ticket.

John Redding, Democratic publicity chief, made the announcement. There had been reports earlier that President Truman, in a long distance telephone conversation, had personally asked Douglas to give consent for his name to go before the convention. Douglas is vacationing in Oregon.

With Douglas out of consideration, talk of vice presidential possibilities centered on Gov. William Preston Lane jr., of Maryland, and Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky.

LANEY

Truman's forces are in complete control of the convention and apparently able to write their own platform and name the vice presidential candidate as well as hand the ticket-topping nomination to the President.

At least part of Alabama's delegation was ready to walk out if Truman is nominated or if the platform doesn't please them. This group won control of the delegation in a pre-session caucus.

But California, where there was much anti-Truman sentiment last week, was lining up behind the President. It voted 42 to 12 to support him on the first ballot.

While Lane and Barkley were getting most talk as vice presidential possibilities, Redding said he considers the race "wide open."

Perhaps Barkley is the leading possibility, he said.

Pepper and Laney were entered as presidential candidates last night.

Southerners, making an admittedly hopeless fight in this case, lined up behind Laney. A committee named by a rebel caucus yesterday for that task called on advocates of states' rights to rally behind the Arkansas governor.

PEPPER WILLING

A few hours earlier, Senator Claude Pepper of Florida had made a belated and almost single-handed entry into the race against Mr. Truman. Pepper took over the physical properties—but few of the supporters—of the boom for Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

The convention itself offered a day of speech-making as the main attraction in a hall where the Republicans last month picked Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Gov. Earl Warren of California for their ticket.

Senator Francis J. Myers of Pennsylvania, welcoming the delegates, called in a manuscript for "a two-front war" in which he said the Democrats can win in November with President Truman.

He said the party would be "back at the Roosevelt-New Deal" stand under Mr. Truman, fighting "the reactionary, dominant isolationist right" on one hand and "the totalitarian communist left" on the other.

National Chairman J. Howard McGrath lashed out at what he called the record of "negativism, obstructionism and retrogression" rolled up by the Republican-controlled 80th Congress for nearly two years.

Finally, in their rush to adjourn ahead of last month's GOP convention, the Rhode Island senator added, the lawmakers jammed through "legislation that will prove to be ill-timed, illogical, and utterly meaningless in the solution of the critical issues of our times."

MANY SIDE ATTRACTIONS

This was the main show, but it wasn't the main attraction. Interest centered on the side shows.

In one of these a half dozen or more potential vice presidential candidates lined up in the hope of a nod from the White House after Douglas decided he isn't interested.

Southerners who don't like Mr. Truman's program for racial equality stood toe to toe with those who do. Both sides were ready to slug it out over a platform plank unlikely to be wholly satisfactory to either.

The vice presidential situation was in a characteristic mess. The late President Roosevelt cut the knot of a similar tieup four years ago with a letter saying that the then Senator Truman or Douglas would be acceptable to him.

Mr. Truman got it then and Douglas was hardly mentioned.

In what was read here as a low bow to the New Deal wing of the party, Mr. Truman was reported to have asked Douglas to make it a twosome.

The first session of the convention opening shortly after 11 a. m., adjourned at 1:06 p. m. (EST) today until 7:30 p. m. (EST) tonight.

The party's New Dealers, headed by Chester Bowles, Paul Porter, Leon Henderson—and reported to be sparkplugged by Security Administrator Oscar Ewing—had urged Douglas to jump in the race.

Dems Draft Top-Secret New Dealish Platform

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Democrats put the first draft of their controversy-laden 1948 platform on paper today and routed it toward the convention floor. Battling over the race plank there may determine whether the Democrats will be one party or two in November.

Senator Francis J. Myers of Pennsylvania, platform committee chairman, described the super-secret document as following "generally in outline the philosophy of the New Deal—a Roosevelt-Truman platform."

It remained to be seen whether the words the sleepy-eyed drafting committee of seven came up with at 3:30 a. m. would please either side in the red hot civil rights battle.

Already the Dixie rebellion had crashed head-on into a counter revolt by the party's northern and self-styled "liberal" wing.

A shouting band of southerners grimly threatened to walk out of the convention and nominate a candidate of their own later this month if any part of President Truman's civil rights program is written into the party's platform.

They demanded a plank leaving all racial legislation entirely to the states, without federal interference.

The text of the tentative platform whipped into shape early today was being kept a closely guarded secret until it is ready to hit the convention floor, probably tomorrow night.

But through the hush-hush reporters heard that the drafting committee had decided to stick fairly close to the 1944 compromise race plank.

Business groups appear today to have won some Democratic party support for taxing the earnings of the farmer-owned cooperatives.

Under present laws, such co-ops are exempt from federal income taxes. Individual co-op members are, however, liable for taxes on their share of earnings.

William Ritchie, chairman of the Nebraska state Democratic committee and a member of the 18-man committee drafting the party's convention platform, said there has been tentative agreement on a pledge to limit present co-op tax exemption.

Washington Booze Racket Case Folds Up After 6 Years In Court

NEW YORK—Our subject today is the International Hod Carriers', Building and Common Laborers' Union, which I used to touch up about once a week but filed away under unfinished business.

About six years ago, I turned up a little routine idyl of unionism in our national capital about a union bum named Larry Kelly. He and another lug had a gritty trap known as the El Patio and they had stashed a great load of liquor behind a mock wall in the cellar. The alcohol tax unit of the treasury found it and charged Kelly and one with ducking certain taxes.

Kelly said this was not El Patio's panther but the private property of a big local of the hod carriers of which he was the boss gorilla. If it was the El Patio's merchandise, it was commercial and taxable. If it was the union's, it was social and exempt.

Kelly said his local had just lifted the mortgage and that this corn squeezing and juniper water was for a big taffy-pull of the members.

The A. T. U. people proved absolutely that there was enough booze in this cave to keep the whole city of Washington absolutely reeking for duration and a bit.

It finally turned out that the members of Kelly's union really had bought the booze found in the false room in the cellar of the El Patio. They just didn't know it. Kelly bought it with their money.

The department of justice put on this case an assistant district attorney, with a bulldog disposition, named Fihelly. After a long hard case he got indictments against Joe Moreschi, the president of the international, or parent, union, with offices right there in Washington; his son, Faust, and seven others. Kelly disappeared and the FBI finally reported that he had died on a merchant ship somewhere near Australia.

Years went by. The department of justice sent a fellow over to Japan named Joseph D. Keenan, a red-hot New Dealer, as chief prosecutor in the war crimes hippodrome.

Well, the good old department of justice stalled and stalled and finally, well, what do you know? Mr. Fihelly, the prosecutor, is assigned to Japan to help Keenan, his opponent in the union case.

More than a year ago in Washington it was known to be a cinch that old greaseball Moreschi wouldn't even go to trial. It was a "weak" indictment.

Finally, they got Leo Rover, an old, reliable hand, to do a nice, formal, journeyman job for the record. Joe Moreschi was acquitted from the bench, on the ground that he hadn't "conspired."

The old guy's kid, Faust, and a defendant who wasn't connected with the union at all were fined $2,500 each, a mere pinch compared to the enormous loot, and got terms of from four months to a year in jail but were put on probation right away. That means they won't have to go. Three others were convicted and got nominal punishment.

Backward Look Reveals Dewey's Brain-Trust Knew the Answers

MEMOS OF A GIRL FRIDAY—Dear Mr. W.:—Well, you've gotta hand it to Mr. Dewey, at that. He was wisely managed. I now learn that his brain-trust had a cross-index of every delegate. That's over 1,000 of them. Which clubs they belonged to—which churches—their local and national contacts and so on. The Dewey crowd had all concerned pound these delegates with letters urging them to vote for Dewey. When they came to N. Y. they were supplied with best seats to best shows—fancy limousines were at their disposal sans fee, and a fuss was made over them until the Convention ended. Where does all that money come from?

I thawt it was amusing and certainly harmless, but Miss Peake is fed up with newspaper people poking fun at sassiety pipple. She says she and many others in society are not like that, at all. Resurfacing Of 11 Roads Underway

County Starts Year's Last Major Project

Resurfacing of 11 of Richland county's hard-surface roads started today, County Engineer Walter E. Rusk announced.

The project will take about three weeks to complete. It will be the last major road project of the summer because road funds are exhausted, Rusk said.

The sections to be resurfaced will cover about 30 miles. Richland county has 160 miles of hard-surface roads.

Resurfacing material consists of one-fourth gallon of bituminous mixed with 25 pounds of chips for each square yard of road surface. The new surface will be three-eighths of an inch thick.

Roads to be resurfaced and the amount of mileage inmludes: Winsterstine, 3.3 miles; Millsboro West, two miles; Hook, two miles; Lexington - Ontario, 1.4 miles; Horning, .7 of mile; Plymouth Springmill, 4.8 miles; Myers, 1.78 miles; Amoy-Ganges, 3.9 miles; Mansfield-Lucas, 3.9 miles; Mansfield-Little Washington, 4.1 miles; Little Washington, 1.35 miles.

The Franklin-Church road, 1.2 miles, will get a lighter bituminous treatment. The Cook road in Madison township, .65 of a mile, may be resurfaced.

Rocks Miss Car of Sleep Disturber

The rocks which broke out a window and scratched the car of Auburn Dilger, 416 Fifth avenue, early Sunday, were all "a mistake."

The rocks, according to a Chester avenue rock-hurler, were intended for another car.

Dilger told deputies at 4 a. m. Sunday that he was driving on Lenox avenue when rocks were hurled against his car, breaking out the window on the driver's side and hitting him in the face.

Deputies investigated to find that the rock-hurler was aiming at what he thought was the car of a sleep-disturber who reportedly was speeding up and down Lenox avenue and blowing his horn.

The rock-thrower was not held after he promised to pay the damages inflicted to Dilger's car.

Rites Slated For Boy, 6

Services For Victim Of Mishap Arranged

Funeral services for Raymond Harry Fetter, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Fetter jr., 332 Auburn street, who died shortly after being struck by a car Saturday night, will be held at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Wappner funeral home.

Rev. John Gensel, pastor of St. Paul Lutheran church, will read the service and burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

The child was struck by a car, driven by Richard Waddell, 29, of 105 South Glenn avenue, when he darted into the street while playing a game of hide and seek with playmates.

The accident occurred about 9:30 p. m. on Grace street, police said. The boy died two hours later in General hospital of a skull fracture.

Born Sept. 9, 1941, in Mansfield, Raymond was a first grade pupil at Newman school last year. Surviving besides his parents are a sister, Georgene Barbara Fetter; the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Fetter sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kittelberger sr., all of Mansfield.

The child was the eighth traffic fatality in Richland county this year. Last year's death toll was 10 persons for a corresponding period.

11 Teachers Still Needed

Three teaching positions are still to be filled in the city school system, W. L. Miller, superintendent, said today. In the county system, there are eight vacancies at Union, Lucas, Bellville and Shiloh schools, according to Boyd Robinson, superintendent.

Positions open in the city are one in the upper elementary grades, one commercial teacher in Senior high school, and one English and music in junior high school.

Union school needs a music and commercial teacher, Lucas first and fourth grade teachers, Bellville a fifth grade teacher, and Shiloh a Latin, English and physical education teacher.

There had been no resignations in the city system by Saturday's deadline. The county has had six resignations.

E. H. Rider has been appointed superintendent of Bellville school to replace D. D. Rummel, resigned.

Thomas Lasley will fill the opening left by the resignation of Glen Guthrie as superintendent of Union school.

E. R. Gaverick has been appointed to replace E. R. Rider as superintendent of Butler school.

Both Miller and Robinson said they expected the existing vacancies to be filled before school opens this fall.

Three Truck Tires Reported Stolen

Theft of three truck tires valued at $300 from vehicles owned by the Ralston Brothers and McFarland Pipeline Construction company, was reported to sheriff's deputies early Sunday by the company.

Company spokesmen said they discovered the theft at 7:30 a. m. Sunday. They said one of the trucks had been broken into and a jack from the truck used to remove the tires.

The theft, company spokesmen said, was believed to have occurred between 8:30 p. m. Saturday and 7:30 a. m. Sunday on a side road off State Route 603, south of Pinhook. The company is engaged in construction work near Lucas.

'LIFETIME' ACHIEVEMENT—It took Beth Kindinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Kindinger, of 1573 Springmill road, all of her ten years to grow her beautiful waist-length brown hair but she wanted to "be like the other girls." Although she had to fight a hard battle with her parents for several months, her mother finally consented to accompany her to a beauty shop and the deed was done . . . her pigtails were gone. Beth's reasons: "The boys at school were always pulling on my pigtails and besides I want curls anyway. And long hair is too hard to dry when I go swimming and that's one thing I like to do in the summer time." So there, too.

1,500 Hear Sunday Evening Concerts

At least 1,500 Mansfielders turned out last night for the city's two band concerts.

At Stadium field, back of the Senior high school, Dr. Louis E. Pete directed a group of American Federation of Musicians, Local 159, presenting an hour and half concert of outstanding musical selections. At least 1,000 heard the 40 band members there with Dick Johnson, trombonist, as featured soloist.

Favorites with the crowd were Johnson's playing of "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," by Herbert, and the band's Strauss waltzes and "Sabre Dance" from the Gayne Ballet by Khachaturian.

Smart's studio accordion band was heard by about 500 who sat around the lake at North Lake park, most of the group strolling over to the bandstand following supper at the park tables.

Vocalists with Smart's band were Elaine Wilkins, Leile Bowser, Arlene Christman and Edward DeWitt. Favorites with the crowd were "Now Is the Hour," in special arrangement, and the closing number, "Sleep," featuring the chimes, electric guitar, vibraharp and marimba.

3 Killed In Crash Of Plane

Mansfield Area Has Five Deaths

Death rode the highways, swimming places and the air in Ohio over the week end.

A fatal plane crash near Andover involving a Cleveland pilot-industrialist and two passengers Sunday brought to 19 the number of accident victims in the state.

Herbert C. Phillips, 43-year-old owner of the City Welding and Manufacturing company at Cleveland, was killed instantly when his Vultee BT-13 plane crashed, exploded and burned yesterday.

Passengers killed in the crash were Elsworth Muse, 23, and Virgil Woodard, 22, both of nearby Richmond. Muse died instantly, while Woodard succumbed several hours later in a hospital after suffering critical burns.

Phillips, a former Civil Air Patrol captain, flew from Willoughby to Andover early yesterday to look at possible plant, sites for his company, which he planned to transfer to Andover, sheriff's deputies said.

The propeller of his plane was damaged slightly in an afternoon flight to Greenville, Pa., deputies reported, but Phillips returned to Andover and believed the damage would not affect the plane's performance.

PLANE CLIPS TREE

A few minutes after taking off from a private airport with Woodard and Muse as passengers, witnesses told deputies, Phillips' plane banked sharply, clipped the top of a tree and grazed another before exploding and burning in the field. Bodies of the three were taken from the flaming wreckage by persons who saw the crash.

The list of casualties from Friday through Sunday included five deaths in the Mansfield area. Archie Cooper, John Savage, Orville Hoover, all of Bucyrus, and Laverne Steigerwalt of New Washington were killed in a collision of two cars near Bucyrus.

Raymond Fetter, seven-year-old Mansfield boy, was fatally injured when he ran into the side of a car Saturday night.

Elsewhere throughout the state, four were killed in traffic accidents.

Drownings accounted for four deaths, and other accidents brought death to three other persons.

SNAG, HE SAYS—

A party of seven "fishermen" from Mansfield treked to Lake Erie Sunday, boarding a trawling boat at Sandusky and on over to Pelee Island where fishing is supposed to be pretty good. All was quiet for awhile, when all of sudden Al Stritzinger, one of the party, yelled "snag!" and pulled and tugged at his line. Much to his—and everyone else's surprise—he pulled in a 21¼-inch pickerel. Al got quite a bit of razzing for his "snag" from the boys. The Mansfield party reported they caught the biggest "mess" of fish on the Islands yesterday—33 in all.

400 Hear Rev. Stamets At Second Vesper Service

"God is speaking all around us. All about us is His mighty power and resources but so many of us do not realize that they are available," Rev. V. C. Stamets told an audience of 400 at the second Sunday vesper services of the season at South Park yesterday.

"God is strange and unfamiliar to so many of us because we live our own lives outside His will," Rev. Stamets declared. "We choose our personal destinies, then when the world tumbles around us, we wonder why He is not near and why we can't hear His voice.

"We live in such a hurry and our life has become so mechanized that we fail to see the beauty along the highways and our senses have become dulled to the sound of His voice."

Music was presented by the choir of the First Evangelical UB church of which Rev. Stamets is pastor. Members sang "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes" by Stultz with Lawrence Chamberlain directing. For an offertory number, Mrs. E. C. Crider, Miss Naomi Johnson and Mrs. William Freund sang "Fairest Lord Jesus."

A third vesper will be held next Sunday at 7 p. m. All Sunday night services are under the sponsorship of the Mansfield Ministerial association.

Feller Loses, Lemon Wins Against Browns

All-Star Tilt Fate In Balance

By JOE REICHLER

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — The fate of the major league all-star classic hung in the balance today.

Incensed over the refusal of Bobby Feller and Marty Marion to play in the 15th annual all-star game here tomorrow and the apparent apathy of others, big league club owners were preparing for a showdown with the players.

From a reliable source it was learned that the moguls, backed by Presidents Ford Frick of the National league and Will Harridge of the American, were ready to issue the following ultimatum to the players.

"Either you live up to your moral obligations and play when called upon or let's drop the whole thing."

★

It Was Pointed Out That Each of the eight pitchers comprising the American league staff worked either Saturday or Sunday. Bob Lemon of Cleveland, Joe Page of New York, Joe Dobson of Boston, Walter Masterson of Washington, Hal Newhouser of Detroit and Joe Coleman of Philadelphia all pitched Sunday as well as Feller. The Yankees' Vic Raschi and the Chicago White Sox Joe Haynes hurled Saturday. Of the National league's six pitchers, only Johnny Schmitz worked over the week end. The Chicago Cubs' lefthander pitched a two-hitter Saturday.

Feller bowed out because he said it would interrupt his regular pitching rotation for Cleveland. St. Louis' Marion, who at times has been rested because of an ailing back, begged off because he claimed he was not in the best shape. Yet he has not missed a game of late. He was auspicious in yesterday's Cards-Reds game with several diving stops of ground balls.

In addition to Feller and Marion, who incidentally have been replaced, it was doubtful whether Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio, Red Schoendienst and George Kell would be fit to play. Each has been sidelined by an injury. All will be in uniform, however.

★

The Most Outspoken of the Club heads was Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds.

"If the players don't show more of an interest in their all-star game," he said, "then let's give it back to the Indians."

And he didn't mean the Cleveland Indians.

"I don't mean to insinuate that the players are faking it," he continued, "but it's funny that so many of the all-star players conveniently get sick or injured a day or two before the all-star game. Those who purposely duck it not only let down themselves and the fans who selected them but their own team as well. In order to make it look legitimate they miss several of their own team's games.

"Undoubtedly Williams, DiMaggio, Stanky and one of two others have perfectly legitimate reasons for not playing but I do know of several cases in the past where players preferred to go fishing rather than appear in the all-star game. My own Eddie Miller whom we traded to the Phillies last spring withdrew from three all-star games with no valid reason They simply ducked the all-star game to spend three days fishing or go visiting."

★

An American League Spokesman who asked not to be identified said the circuit "deplored Feller's attitude" but could do nothing about it.

Manager Leo Durocher of the National was ready to shoot either Johnny Sain of the Boston Braves or Ewell Blackwell of the Reds at the American leaguers tomorrow.

Although definite pitching selections won't be known until later in the day when both Durocher and Bucky Harris, the American league pilot, announce their starting lineups, indications were that Harris might select his own pitching ace, Vic Raschi, to start.

Joe Tipton Joins List Of Injured

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The Cleveland Indians, who have seen their league-leading lineup riddled more than a dozen times by injuries this season, enjoyed an all-star game "breather" today in their pennant battle.

Rookie Catcher Joe Tipton was the latest "hard luck" victim yesterday as Bob Lemon hurled in all-star fashion to cop the nightcap of a doubleheader with the troublesome St. Louis Browns after Bob Feller was edged in the opener before 39,940 stadium fans.

Tipton, struck on the hand by a pitched ball while Lemon was carving out a brilliant 5-0 shutout, was sidelined for a week for the second time this season. He was replaced by Jim Hegan, the Tribe's only other receiver, who was behind the plate as Feller dropped a 3-2 home run duel.

SIXTH SHUTOUT

Lemon's three-hit masterpiece was his sixth shutout of the season, giving him another "first" among major league hurlers. He also leads in strikeouts, complete games and is tied for the top in victories with 13.

A five-run fifth inning outburst won the nightcap for Cleveland. The frame featured doubles by Mitchell and Edwards, a walk, Manager Lou Boudreau's single and Joe Gordon's 17th homer with one aboard.

The Indians took an early lead against Cliff Fannin in the opener with first inning homers by Mitchell and Edwards, who obtained seven of the Tribe's 12 hits in the two games. The lead was wiped out and Feller suffered his 10th loss when Dick Kokos rapped a two-run homer and Les Moss clouted the clincher in the ninth.

BILL TALKS BACK

Tribe President Bill Veeck, perturbed by the blast of New York Manager Bucky Harris at Feller's withdrawal from the all-star game, declared yesterday that the move was decided upon in a conference of Feller, Boudreau and himself in the interest of "winning a pennant."

Veeck rapped the Yankees for holding Spud Chandler out of the 1946 "dream" game so he could hurl against Feller, and asserted: "I would suggest to Mr. Harris that running the Yankees is a full-time job and that he devote his complete time to it."

Jack, Grays Combine For 10-0 Victory

Jack Hammett won his fourth game of the season for the Mansfield Grays yesterday and used his new-found batting punch to help himself along.

Hammett scattered seven Massillon Highways hits and collected four himself to drub the visitors under a 10-0 score. One of Hammett's hits was a mighty swat over the Blue Goose centerfield fence.

The victory brought the Grays over the .500 mark for the first time this season with a record of ten wins and nine losses They will go after their eleventh win Wednesday when they are host to the Shelby Blues in a twilight game.

GET 3 IN FIRST

The Grays wasted little time in sewing up the game yesterday as they scored three runs in the first inning. Singles by Jim Meeting, Wilbur Wade, Dean Hahn and Dubby Lockhart and a double by Kenny Fund helped the cause along. The locals added single tallies in the fourth and sixth and then exploded for five runs in the eighth inning to finish things off.

Shelly Swank was the No. 2 batter behind Hammett, getting three hits while five other Grays collected two. Ralph Majors made his first appearance in the lineup and went hitless in two times at bat.

With Dick Poth and Don Walker, pitching six-hit ball, Madison township rung up a 10-3 victory over the Crestline American Legion juniors in the final game yesterday.

Dick Ernsberger led Madison at bat with a single, double, and home run in four times at bat.

Shelby Blues Rap Lancaster

SHELBY — The Shelby Blues scored their most important victory of the year yesterday as they blasted the powerful Anchor-Hocking Glass team of Lancaster, 7-0.

Paul Hartz went all the way on the mound for the Blues and held the Lancaster team to four scattered hits. Meanwhile the Blues blasted starting pitcher Jim Daubenmire and Reliefer Zamboni for 12 blows.

The Blues drove Daubenmire to cover in the second inning with a five-run outburst. Higgins, Gates, Don Zeiters and Don Fought each got two hits for Shelby. Zeiters was the fielding star of the game as he made a brilliant catch with two men out and the bases loaded in the seventh inning.

Ray Bader, Ken McCally Combine Talents For Win

BELLEVUE—Mansfield drubbed Willard, 7-1, here yesterday to remain undefeated as four more games were run off in the district American Legion Juniors tournament.

Galion, the only other undefeated team, thumped Sandusky, 10-5, and Lorain trimmed Fremont, 4-1, and Attica, 15-3, in other games. Attica, Fremont and Sandusky were eliminated from the tournament by their second losses.

Mansfield will meet Galion at 11:30 a. m. next Saturday following a contest between Lorain and Willard. Winners of the two games will meet at 4 p. m. Finals will be played on Sunday.

Some fine pitching by Dutch Bader and timely hitting by Ken McCally accounted for yesterday's victory. Bader scattered five Willard hits and struck out 12 while McCally had a perfect day at bat with four hits in four times at bat.

TAKES BIG LEAD

Mansfield took a three run lead in the fourth inning when Sparkie Watts walked and stole second. McCally got his second hit to drive him home and Gene Riblet was hit by a pitched ball. Buck McKeever unloaded a long triple to bring in McCally and Riblet.

Mansfield scored two more runs in the eighth inning when Gene Riblet hit the only home run of the game, driving in McCally ahead of him.

The final tallies in the ninth were added by four straight singles after two men were out. Joe Distl, McCally, Riblet and Bader singled in that order.

The victory was the twelfth in a row for Manager Dewey Durant's Mansfield team. They played one tie.

Galion's victory over Sandusky was its second over the same team. They had beaten the Lake Erie team, 14-9, Saturday. Schwarts, with three for five and E. Wisler with two for five, paced Galion at bat.

Mangrum's Sub-Par Wins Columbus Golf

By FRITZ HOWELL
(Ohio AP Sports Editor)

COLUMBUS —Chicago's Lloyd Mangrum had the $2,000 first prize, and practically everybody boasted a batch of birdies, as the third annual $10,000 Columbus open golf tourney went into the record books.

Mangrum, twice winner of the purple heart, and 1946 national open victor, overcame a three-stroke deficit going into the final round of the 72-hole medal play event and won by a single shot over George Schoux of San Francisco, a 29-year-old pro without a job.

Mangrum scored a 268, just 16 under par, while Schoux was 15 under with 269 despite a closing 72, for the $1,400 second prize.

Old man par—he's 71—was a bit chagrined after the beating the Wyandot Public layout, a 6,433-yard course, absorbed at the hands of the club-swinging athletes.

Birdies were a dime a gross as 959 were registered in the three-day chase, along with 38 eagles and one double eagle. Those who finished even with par couldn't land in the prize list which extended through the first 20.

Schoux, who led by four strokes at the end of 36 holes, practically gave the tourney away. In the second round he called a penalty stroke on himself, over objections of the scorer—a stroke which would have given him a tie. And in the final round, leading by four strokes with 12 holes to play, he lost five strokes in three holes to Mangrum's birdie and two pars.

Skip Alexander of Lexington, N. C., wound up third in the tourney with 271, whole Bobby Locke of South Africa, last year's winner, shared the next spot with Clayton Haefner of Charlotte, N. C They tied at 274, 10 under par, the same score with which Locke won in 1947.

Dark Spotlights Braves' Drive

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer.

The Boston Braves gave Alvin Dark $40,000 to sign with their organization in 1946 and the rookie shortstop is paying back the outlay with interest.

Dark is the talk of the National league at the moment, having hit safely in 23 consecutive games. This streak, three games short of the rookie record set by Guy Curtwright of the Chicago White Sox in 1943, has enabled the Braves' shortstop to move into fourth place in the circuit's individual batting race. Dark is whacking the ball at a .333 pace for the league-leading Braves.

Dark is teaming up with Connie Ryan around the keystone

Dark and Ryan collected five of the Braves' 14 hits yesterday in Boston's 9-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies at Boston.

The triumph increased the Braves' lead to 5½ games over the runner-up Pittsburgh Pirates who were beaten 1-0. by the Cubs in Chicago.

Ken Raffensberger pitched the Cincinnati Reds to a 1-0 one-hit triumph over the third place Cardinals in St Louis Marty Marion's fourth-inning single spoiled the lefty's bid for a no-hitter. It was the second time this year that Raffensberger has pitched a one-hitter against St Louis. He held the Cards to one safety on May 31.

Jack Conway's first major league homer enabled the Giants to shade the Brooklyn Dodgers 3-2, at New York. Conway homered in the ninth to snap a 2-2 tie. Four-baggers by George Shuba and Carl Furillo accounted for both Brooklyn runs

The Cleveland Indians retained their half game lead over the Philadelphia Athletics in the American league race by dividing a doubleheader with the St Louis Browns while the A's split a pair with the Boston Red Sox in Philadelphia

After the Browns beat Bobby Feller, 3-2, Bob Lemon pitched the Tribe to a 5-0 three-hit triumph

The Athletics also lost their first game, 9-8, in ten innings but they bounced back and took the finale from Boston, 7-5 The second game was called in the eighth inning because of the Sunday curfew law.

At Detroit, Hal Newhouser joined Lemon as the major's only 13 game winners by hurling the Tigers to a 5-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox

The Washington Senators, scoring four times in the seventh and eighth innings, routed the New York Yankees, 9-4, at Washington.

FDIC Pays Crop Losses Of $6,134

36 Richland Farmers File Wheat Claims

Indemnity paid by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation to Richland county farmers for 1947 wheat losses totaled $6,324.91, the Agricultural Conservation office here announced today.

Some 36 farmers in the county claimed losses last year, the association said, for a total of 2,496 bushels of wheat. Average compensation paid per bushel was $2.53.

Through the crop insurance program, farmers holding crop insurance who sustain losses are issued certificates which they may hold until May 15 of the following year, cashing them in at any time at current market prices.

Throughout the state, farmers participating in the insurance program claimed losses totaling a quarter-million bushels of wheat. Two counties, Hamilton and Monroe, reported no losses at all.

There were 154 farmers in Richland county participating in the program last year. Premiums paid here amounted to $5,270.27.

Steel Prices Aim Upward

Basing Point System Dropped

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Price advances may accompany the abandonment of the basing point price system by U. S. Steel corporation, the magazine Steel said today.

Commenting on the largest producer's announcement it would sell only on an F.O.B. mill basis, the Trade Journal said:

"Although U. S. Steel did not indicate what prices would be under the new method there has been considerable conjecture it will be accompanied with price advances to cover higher operating costs, including an anticipated wage increase to steelworkers," it reported.

"Elsewhere on the price point, a five per cent increase in the price of alloy steel was effected by one producer, pig iron was raised four dollars a gross ton by one company, and oven foundry coke was advanced 90 cents a ton by other interests."

Steel said the U. S. Steel move would set the pattern for the industry and that "the national economy is due for a jolt" that would affect even "the man in the street."

The Fourth of July holiday and an explosion in a Chicago mill caused the national steel ingot rate to drop six points last week to 89 per cent of rated capacity.

"This is the lowest level recorded since May 1," said Steel, "when the industry was hit by a coal miners' work stoppage."

Another resolution, also adopted, asked that the Ohio Soldiers' Bonus act be amended to provide for payment of $400 to the survivors of servicemen who lost their lives within 90 days after induction into the armed forces.

Hours of Hoeing Saved

Chemicals Help Farmers Fight Weeds

By PAUL KELLAM

Richland county farmers are waging a chemical war on weeds in their corn. They are finding that chemicals save hours of hoeing in stifling weather.

The new weed-killers are praised by some farmers and frowned on by others.

Grant Lennington of Bellville likes the new 2,4-D chemical for wild morning glory and pea vines which are troublesome in bottomland fields.

With the idea of reducing cultivation through spraying rather than eliminating it entirely, Lennington this year has grown some of the tallest corn in the county.

Lennington mixes one pint of the concentrated spray to five gallons of water to spray one acre. Present costs are about $1.25 per pint.

According to Guy L. Taylor, Richland county Triple-A chairman, tests made in 1947 by several experiment stations have proved that corn yields can be increased by spraying. An increased yield of 10 to 15 bushels per acre was made on some plots at a cost of only $1 to $2 per acre.

BREAKS CRUST

Conservationist Borst, along with several other authorities in his field, point out that one of the advantages of cultivation is that it breaks surface crust.

Many soils in Ohio, like the Miami and related soils, are crusted or sealed over under the beating action of heavy summer rains. Other soils like the dark Brookston do not seal as much.

Cultivation not only breaks the seal, thus promoting the entrance of air and rainfall, but also roughens the surface and to some extent lessens runoff.

Another advantage of cultivation shows up in contour farming. The small ridges made by a cultivation in a contoured field tend to hold water and thus reduce erosion and increase production.

HOW IT'S DONE—Grant Lennington, of Bellville, is shown in the top picture as he sprays a field of corn with the new, 2, 4-D solution for control of weeds. Looking on is his son, Jim. Other photo shows what the new spray does. Guy Taylor, Richland county AAA chairman, left, holds a wild morning glory vine killed by the spray in one application. Lennington, right, points to wilted smartweed which also is killed by the spray.

Hints Given For Poultry

Crawford Agent Offers Advice

Crawford County Agent Russell Miller today advanced a few hot-weather hints for poultry raisers confronted with the usual summer and hot-weather problems.

"With the present high feed prices, it is a problem to produce eggs at a profit," Miller said, and then added a few things that could be done to help the situation.

"1. Cull every week and sell every hen not in production or which shows yellow coloring in the shanks. Keep production above 60 per cent.

"2. Wet mash or pellets once a day will keep up feed consumption and delay moulting and resting. Reduce grain to keep mash consumption at a high level.

"3. Use all-night lights.

"4. Examine birds for lice and mites.

"5. Remove all windows and doors to keep house cool. Insulation pays off in hot weather.

"6. Gather eggs at least three times daily in wire baskets and store immediately in a cool, moist basement room.

"7. Young pullets will consume less feed and develop more economically if placed on good clover range."

Tenant Farm Plan Favored

COLUMBUS — (AP) —Increased land and farm machinery prices make share cropping and tenant farming "the easiest and safest road" for young farmers, an Ohio State university farm economist said today.

Prof. J. I. Falconer declared tenant operation of farms can be made profitable to owner and tenant by use of modern farming techniques.

"The average investment in farm machinery and livestock to operate a farm puts the venture out of reach of many rural young people," Prof. Falconer explained.

"Land prices of $200 and more per acre make final payment of a big farm mortgage a life-time job."

Prof. Falconer said he believed long-term leases to be more beneficial to the tenant.

Locust-Hurt Trees Ready For Pruning

With the last chorus of 17-year locusts fading from the picture in Richland county, the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster announced that dead branches on fruit trees resulting from locust injury could safely be removed during July or August.

The main advantage in pruning out the injured branches during summer or fall is that they can be more easily seen then.

However, C. W. Ellenwood, station horticulturist, says "that on badly injured trees, the corrective pruning which requires the removal of large branches had better be done late next winter.

Smart Ant's A Neurotic, Goes Nutty

LONDON—(AP)—The case of the neurotic ant which went crazy was reported in the scientific magazine Nature.

The ant was the cleverest of 23 worker ants used by Derek Wragge Morley, 27, a scientist at Edinburgh institute of animal genetics, in an ant-training experiment.

This ant quickly learned to follow the right path through a glass maze, but one day he turned into a cul-de-sac. After failing to find a hole he began to show "rising physical excitement and an increasing jerking of the limbs and antennae," Morley wrote. He crawled backward "with a staggering motion," and finally circled drunkenly.

HOMELESS—While thousands of happy travelers rush past them in New York's Pennsylvania railroad terminal, these homeless and hungry mothers find temporary shelter on a waiting room bench. Evicted by landlords who objected to children, they are: Mrs. Katherine Riley (left) with her sons, Kenneth, 2, and Charles, 9, and Mrs. Margaret Pitt, with William, 2, and Joseph, 4. The mothers refused quarters in the Municipal Lodging House, declaring that they wanted a real home for their children. Charitable restaurant owners have been feeding the youngsters, they said. Mrs. Riley again faces motherhood.

Petition Sale of Union Power Company Business

MT. GILEAD—A joint petition has been filed with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio seeking approval for the sale of the Union Power company property and business to the Ohio Public Service company.

The Union Power company has been supplying electricity for light and power purposes to consumers in Morrow, Knox and Richland counties. Its properties consists chiefly of a rural distribtion system serving approximately 900 customers.

The Ohio Public Serive company serves approximately 159,000 customers, operating in ten divisions in North Central Ohio, including Ashland, Mansfield, Marion, Mt. Gilead and intervening territory.

The Union Power company has been operated by H. C. Dye, president, and L. C. Dye, secretary, since its organization 21 years ago. On June 5, 1946, the Ohio Public Service company took over the property of the former Marion Reserve Power company, which had previously served the Mt. Gilead territory.

OPTIONAL AGREEMENT

An optional agreement was executed on April 28 between the two companies providing for the sale and purchase of the utility property subject to the approval of the Public Utilities commission of Ohio.

H. J. Grisby, vice president and manager of the Marion division, stated that inasmuch as the Union Power company's property is adjacent to and interconnected with the OPS system, the addition of this property can be accomplished efficently and economically. The Union Power company has heretofore purchased its power requirements from the Ohio Public Service company and one other large utility company.

In announcing the proposed sale, L. C. Dye said that the property of his company was in such close relationship from a territory standpoint that the transfer, when completed, would ultimately be of advantage to the company's customers and its future operations.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Fragrant Flower and the General

Chennault Happy With Chinese Bride

By WALTER BRIGGS

SHANGHAI, China—Chen Nateh, the former Lord of the Flying Tigers, and Srung-mai the Fragrant Flower from Hong Kong made me most welcome So I shook hands with Gen Claire Chennault and his wife, Ann

Chennault, known to millions of Chinese as Chen Na-teh (The Virtuous) and his 24-year-old Chinese bride, Srung-mai (The Fragrant Flower), who has adopted the westernized name of Anna, live in a comfortable bungalow in suburban Hungjao, not far from an air field

Srung-mai or Anna is slim, graceful, scarcely five feet tall, with pronounced cheekbones of her race and parted hair swept neatly back.

On the occasion of my visit to the Chennaults she wore a pink silk dress, buttoned at the neck and slit a bit along the legs, as is the Chinese style

To Occidentals and many Chinese friends she is Anna Her family name, oddly enough is Chen—the same as her husband s Anna calls him Claire but to most of his friends he is 'the Old Man'

Chennault, leader of the American Volunteer Group—the Flying Tigers—and later the 14th Air Force, left the wars to settle down in Waterproof La his home town For two years he tried a quiet life in the bayou country

COULDN'T FORGET

Chennault's thoughts dwelt on China and its skies Finally, he and his wife agreed that she should divorce him—after 35 years of marriage

The onetime acrobatic pilot returned to China He established an airline to haul relief supplies to the interior and bring out export goods. "I feel that I am needed here and know that I am not especially needed in Louisiana," he has said

At 57, Chennault has decided to spend the rest of his years here He feels that he has come home A few days before Christmas he made Anna a part of that home

Anna is the daughter of a former consul-general in San Francisco. As a college student she made her way from Hong Kong into Free China

In 1943 she joined a Chinese news agency at Kunming where she first met Chennault at a press conference She didn t see him socially, however, until after she went to interview him when he returned to China

She became his hostess at occasional parties and was seen with him at occasional social functions The sudden wedding surprised all but a few close friends

In China women are slowly becoming emancipated Anna s far ahead of most. Not only does she appear frequently in public and work in an office, but she works right alongside her husband.

While he is busy seeing numerous callers about flights, contracts and personnel, and keeping three secretaries busy with dictation, she is helping to handle the airline's public relations

She is translating his recently-finished book manuscript, 'My China Years" for publication in China

American generals, Chinese politicians, businessmen, air crew members are among their guests Chennault favors Louisiana dishes which he has taught the cook, so that gumbo soup and rice dishes appear frequently

Chinese chow, which he also likes sometimes is served At his hand always sits a bottle of tabasco sauce which he calls 'Louisiana ketchup' I tried it once," Srung-mai said, "but never again"

Family life is definitely fun to Anna. "He thinks I'm boss and I think he's boss," Anna said, "so we get along swell."

As we finished talking, the general appeared He walked tall and straight in a brown business suit Deep rough furrows creased his browned face I mentioned a mutual friend an American general who had served in India

"Oh yes," Chennault said, 'he s retired Picked up some bug out here' He paused "I've been lucky Been out 10 years Feel just as good as when I first came" Then he grinned Yes even better'

THE CHENNAULTS—The former leader of the famed Flying Tigers and his Chinese wife, Fragrant Flower, take a taxi ride.

Lack of Electric Power Keeps Thousands Idle In Galion

Week-Long Shutdown Ordered

Boiler Repairs Delay Operation

GALION — Galion's long-standing Municipal power troubles will deprive thousands of industrial workers here of another week's employment.

Plant workers already have been idle one full week.

Officials of the city's major industrial companies notified employes Saturday that the closed-down plants will not be reopened until Monday, July 19.

Origin of the trouble this time was laid to the number one boiler in the Municipal Light and Power company. Delay in construction of a brick wall around the boiler was responsible, a city official said.

However, John F. Porter, service-safety director, reported today that full power resumption is expected by Monday.

Galion workers, with one plant exception, have been idle since before the Independence Day week end.

Th North Electric Manufacturing company, which operates its own power plant, is unaffected by the power curtailment.

Meanwhile, the City hospital and homes are being supplied with power on a limited scale.

Area Flyers Place In Air Race

Mrs. Heisler Cops Trophy

By MRS. HARRISON WOLFE, N-J State Correspondent

WILLARD—Mrs. Kenneth Heisler, wife of the Willard airport owner, captured the top flying trophy for women in the cross country airplane race at Columbus during the two-day air show Monday.

Eight women competed in a field of 24 contestants over the 114-mile triangle course from Columbus to Lancaster to Zanesville in the Economy race.

Mrs. Heisler placed second among all entrants with an average speed of 150 miles per hour. Helen Venskus, of Mansfield, navigated for her in a Beach Bonanza.

Les Simpson, of Columbus, placed first. Third place went to Lloyd Amato, of Mansfield. He flew Art Schreck's Beech Bonanza.

The Willard airport is planning to sponsor its first model airplane meet Sunday, July 25, at the local airport when the All-Ohio Air Tour will again visit the Willard Airport on its annual visit this year. More than 100 planes touring Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Michigan and Canada will stop at Willard on Sunday morning.

Model airplane flyers from Mansfield, Bucyrus, Galion, Sandusky, Bellevue and other surrounding towns will compete for prizes in stunt flying, scale model and jet engines for speed. The three races will be open to junior, senior and open-class flyers. A 160-foot track is being built at the airport in preparation for the meet, which will be controlled by the model flyers. All model planes will be flown on 60 and 70 foot wires, guiding the planes through their gyrotives by the flyers.

Rain Brings Slight Relief

Slight traces of rain fell in Mansfield today bringing slight relief from a 10-day "no-rain" period.

CAA weather observers at Municipal airport said the showers were not enough to measure. Scattered thundershowers were reportd elsewhere in the state.

The U. S. Weather bureau forecast continued hot and humid with little prospect of lasting relief until at least Wednesday.

Forecaster C. G. Andrus at Cleveland said thundershowers until then will follow a "hit-or-miss" pattern, with fairly heavy rainfall probably in narrow ranges.

Temperatures in Mansfield here yesterday rose to a high of 89 at 3 p. m. and then dropped to a low of 71 at 6:30 a. m. today. The mercury stayed below 80 until noon today.

Kiwanis to Hear 'Smart Set'

Music by the Smart Set, Eugene Smart and his pupils, will entertain members of Kiwanis club at a meeting Thursday at 11:50 a. m. at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Herbert Rusk will be chairman.

A. E. Sullivan, delegate to the Kiwanis International convention, gave a report of the convention at the last meeting.

Auto Tamperer Caught In Act

Samuel Salyers, 186 West Third street, reported to police late Saturday that he caught a youth, believed about 20, twisting the right rear-vision mirror on his car.

Salyers said he struck the youth, knocking him to the ground, but that the youth got up and ran away. He said the car was parked on Park avenue west in front of Swan Cleaners.

Firehouse Bids Ready to Open

Bids for construction of a new No. 4 fire station at 411 Newman street will be opened tomorrow noon at the city building.

Council has appropriated $50,000 for the project. Bids had been asked once before on the work, but the lowest combination of bids totaled more tha $70,000.

Dotterman, of Warren road, was struck by a beer bottle, occurred in Sam's Lunch, 863 Bowman street. The address was listed correctly in the story.

50 Jaycees Pledge Aid To Farmers

Group Volunteers In Ashland

ASHLAND — Fifty Ashland Junior Chamber of Commerce members have pledged themselves to give emergency assistance to Ashland county farmers during the busy season this summer and fall.

The chamber's agriculture and soil conservation committee has set up a plan whereby county farmers may call for help in case of such emergencies as accident, illness or death. The service does not apply to labor shortages.

The volunteers offer experienced service in operation of combines, corn pickers, balers, field harvesters and other farm machinery.

Farmers have been notified they may obtain emergency help by contacting the committee chairman, Larry Zehner, at the Dr. Hess and Clark research farm or any other members of the committee. Members are: Charles Calhoun, Woody Clark, Clyde Canfield, D. D. Sites, Earl Leiter, Fred Rood, Everett Cyphers or Gail Wolf.

The farmers must show the cause that a state of emergency exists. If the emergency is found just, the Jaycees will furnish all possible aid.

Claims $7,878 Of Singleton

Among the creditors of Jack Singleton, Cleveland used car dealer, who filed last-minute claims in Bankruptcy court in Cleveland was Robert (Bob) Adelman, formerly of Mansfield.

Adelman last week filed four claims for a total of $7,878.60. Adelman, according to common pleas court records, received money from two Mansfielders who asked him to get them cars and to whom he gave his cognovit notes. Adelman gave the money to Singleton in return for other notes, he said.

Deadline for filing claims against Singleton is Tuesday at 5 p. m. On the basis of debts and assets filed in Cleveland, claims are expected to be worth about eight cents on the dollar. That means a return of $160 for a customer who gave Singleton $2,000 for a cognovit note and the promise of a "new-used" car within several weeks.

Work on New $300,000 Galion Theater to Start

GALION—Construction will begin tomorrow on a new Galion theater in the first block west of the public square on Harding way west.

"After a long delay, caused by federal government restrictions on amusement buildings, Galion will get the finest, most modern theater in this part of the state," Henry Fickensher, manager, said today.

The theater company has contracted with the Vogel Construction company of Wellsville, Ohio, to build the new show place. While a $100,000 building permit was obtained Saturday for the construction, no total estimate has been announced for the new theater. An early figure was given as $300,000.

The theater will have a seating capacity of 1,300. It will be equipped with air conditioning, deluxe rest rooms, powder room, confection and snack bar and a big stage for concerts and stage shows.

The air conditioning system will be controlled by two 40-ton refrigerating units which will cool and de-humidify the fresh filtered air to give patrons a comfortable 75 degrees inside theater temperature even though it may be 100 degrees outside.

Seating will be the "Bodiform" upholstered theater lounge chair, which has been scientifically developed by seating engineers.

Rest rooms will be well lighted and ventilated. The ladies' lounge will have an attractive powder room.

The front of the theater will be porcelain enameled iron. A two-tone color scheme with illuminated colonades will add beauty after dark.

Interior decorations will feature fabrics and tapestries for beauty and sound value.

School Vote Set Tuesday

SHARON — Sharon Township voters will go to the polls tomorrow to decide the fate of a 4-mill levy for the operation of the present school system.

Returns will indicate whether the township will join the Shelby school district or retain its two one-room school houses.

For adoption, more than 60 per cent of the votes favoring the levy are required.

Election officials pointed out that voters desiring the Sharon Township schools to continue as they have operated in the past, should vote "yes" for the levy. The funds then will be used to provide for operation of the schools.

If, on the other hand, a voter wants his district to join the Shelby school district, he should vote "no" on the levy, election officials declared.

The polls will open at 6:30 a. m. and close at 6:30 p. m., election officials announced.

WHITACRE-WALKER RITE SOLEMNIZED IN CHURCH

Madison High School Coach Marries Crestline Girl In Candlelight Service Sunday Afternoon.

MISS MARILYN LOUISE WHITACRE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Whitacre, 312 North Thoman street, Crestline, became the bride of Ennis Fred Walker, Madison high school coach, in a double ring service read Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in the Crestline Evangelical and Reformed church.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Walker, Lima.

The Rev. W. L. Margard officiated for the open church rite and Miss Olga Sonkoly, Elyria, a sorority sister of the bride, presented a brief recital of nuptial airs before the service. Paul Furry of Crestline was the soloist.

Two seven-branched candelabra held lighted tapers and four baskets of daisies and gladioli were used as decorations. White satin ribbon bows marked the end of every other pew in the church.

Mr. Whitacre gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a Swiss imported organdy gown over white taffeta. It was fashioned with short kimona sleeves and a large sash around the waist. It tied in a large bow in back and the streamers fell to the floor. The skirt was made in three gathered tiers and it was trimmed with small flowers made of the same material. Her long gauntlets were of the same material as the gown as was the small bonnet headpiece. Little flowers like those on the skirt trimmed the sides of the bonnet. The fingertip veil was of French imported illusion. Her only jewelry was a double strand of tiny seed pearls.

The bride's bouquet was Colonial style and was made of carnations, baby's breath and daisies.

Mrs. Cletus Sweigard, Ashland, another sorority sister of the bride, was her matron of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Sue Tonkin, Toledo, and Miss Martha Ritzhaupt, Galion, also sorority sisters. The attendants' gowns were fashioned identically to the bride's and all were made of imported organdy. The matron of honor were her gown over mint green taffeta with matching sash and gauntlets and the bridesmaids' gowns were worn over yellow taffeta with matching sashes and gauntlets. Each attendant wore a double strand of seed pearls.

Each attendant carried a small Colonial bouquet of daisies and wore a cluster of the same flowers in her hair.

Mrs. Whitacre chose a black crepe dress fashioned with a lace yoke and sleeves. Her hat and shoes were black and she wore pink gloves which matched her corsage of pink carnations and baby's breath. Mrs. Walker's dress was of black print and her accessories were all black. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

Tom Inman, Toledo, a fraternity brother of the bridegroom, was his best man and the ushers were Cletus Sweigard, Ashland; Al Schindler, Lorain; Wayne Bloker, Sandusky; and Jim Kneirem, Toledo. The last two are fraternity brothers of Mr. Walker.

The reception was held in the church parolrs immediately following the ceremony. The mint green and yellow color scheme was carried out in the decorations. Large baskets of daisies were placed around the room. The bride's table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake and two three-branched candelabra. Hostesses were Miss Ann Sweeney, Lima; Miss Frannie Korkumel, Toledo, sorority sisters of the bride; Mrs. Freada Enich, Crestline, and Miss Jackie Miller, a cousin of the bride.

When the couple left for a honeymoon trip to an undisclosed destination the bride was wearing a pink suit with navy accessories and a bleached straw hat with pink trim. Aftetr July 25 Mr. and Mrs. Walker will reside at 37 Western avenue.

Following the rehearsal at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening, the bridal party was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ritzhaupt, Galion. About 20 guests were present when refreshments were served.

Mrs. Walker was graduated from Ashland high school and Bowling Green State university. She received her bachelor of science degree in education. She is a member of Delta Gamma national social sorority. She has been teaching in the Crestline public schools since her graduation and will begin teaching for the Mansfield public school system this fall.

Mr. Walker is a graduate of Lima Central high school and of Bowling Green State university where he received his bachelor of science degree in education. He is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon national social fraternity. This summer he is working in the Mansfield Recreational program and will begin his duties this fall as head football coach at Madison high school.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Cleveland, Lorain, Elyria, Toledo, Port Clinton, Bowling Green, Ashland, Galion, Alliance, Canton, Massillon, Upper Sandusky, Mansfield, Sandusky, Lima and Bluffton, Ind.

Covering the Younger Set

Just Ask Ann

The talk of the teens has changed to summer outings. Picnics and parties are in full swing. Here's a few hints for a beach party when you travel to Lake Erie for that week or two . . .

With the advent of frozen foods, fare for these parties has changed considerably within the last few years. You don't have to depend on hot dogs and hamburgers (always succulent in a pinch, however), when you can get frozen chicken a la king, beans and French fried potatoes which can be heated in pans on a grate over an open fire. . . .

* * *

Some people bring chicken which they broil on a spit (easy to make by setting up two forkshaped sticks, and using a metal skewer with a handle to turn the chicken). A variation of iced tea can be made by mixing orange juice and lemon or lime and adding to the tea. This takes away the too-tangy flavor of the tea. . . .

Jack Dickson is one to take along on a beach party. He's telling how easy it is to cook a whole meal when you have to. He practiced at Elsie Kinkel's, making the cherry pie. . . . Nancy Osborn is still giving out with her smile for customers at Fanny Farmer's Candy store. . . . Helping Nancy is Marilyn Snyder. She also takes care of the many people that have a sweet tooth.

* * *

A few of the traveling teens are Norma McCally and Carol Bullock. They have been at the Y-Teen conference at Denison university. . . . Audrey McCoy will go to Bowling Green State university for a public speaking class. . . . Katherine and Kathleen Nethero have a lot to tell about their trip to Rochester, N. Y., and Niagara Falls. . . . Marge Goodman is planning to go to the lakes the first week in August with her gang. . . . Marty Shiplet spent the Fourth at the lakes with her parents . . . Rudy Knapp is planning his trip to California come November. . . .

* * *

Rita Richert had a very quiet holiday. She spent her time lying in the back yard trying to beat the heat. . . . There was quite a crowd at the Hyfun dance Friday evening. Dick Butts and his Rhythmaires played for the 150 high school boys and girls. . . .

Joyce Swaney has been seen often with Owen Hagerty. . . . Gizella Knefely had some trouble out at Liberty park one Sunday about going into the water. It seems Gizzie went in whether she was prepared to or not. . . .

Fashion-conscious damsels have set themselves on the gold standard. The shiny gold bug has gone to the feet, waist, and over the arm with shoes, belts and bags being made of glowing gold kid.

Miss Mary Logan Feted With Garden Party

Miss Mary Logan was honored recently with a kitchen shower and party given by Mrs. William Snook and her sister, Miss Dorothy Sprunger, in the garden of the Snook home on South Main street road.

Games were the diversion of the evening and prizes were awarded to Miss Anne Stirp and Miss Logan.

The shower gifts were placed in a cart and hidden and Mrs Snook's dog, Buster, approached Miss Logan with a note tied to a ribbon around his neck. On the note were the directions for finding the gifts.

Later refreshments were served from a long buffet table centered with a small bride's cake. "Mary and Rod" was printed on it and around the edges were arranged green ferns and pink sweetpeas. Other appointments were in pink.

Miss Logan is the bride-elect of Rollin Barr and the couple will be married July 17 in the First English Lutheran church. The Rev. O W. Aughbaugh, associate pastor of the church, will officiate for the service which begins at 7:30 p. m. Miss Sprunger will serve as Miss Logan's only attendant at the wedding.

Now they're talking about a running mate for President Truman—but that sounds like a more rapid pace than seems likely.

Asked what class of trade bought red raspberries at 95 cents a quart, a market man replied: "Mostly those who look as if they aren't accustomed to having much money."

It is now being predicted—but not too confidently—that the prospective bumper corn crop will bring meat prices down—but not much—by next year . . . which is cheerful news—but not very.

Democrats Hold Spotlight This Week

ADOPTION of a platform and choice of a vice presidential nominee will highlight the Democratic national convention which opened in Philadelphia today and which may be dragged through until Thursday although there is no real reason why it shouldn't be wound up by Wednesday.

Now that the nomination of President Truman has been made inescapable by belated recognition that General Eisenhower's repeated refusals have placed him outside the realm of party politics, selection of the strongest possible nominee for vice president becomes the convention's chief concern.

This reverses the situation of four years ago, when Franklin D. Roosevelt was the central figure as a vote-getter and the vice presidency was regarded as so inconsequential that the nomination went to Harry S. Truman after it was decided to ditch Henry Wallace—which, as viewed in retrospect, was a fortunate shift.

The forthcoming Democratic platform, however much the effort may be to satisfy all elements of the party, may be expected to present President Truman in favorable light, to scathingly rebuke the recent Republican Congress, to uphold a bi-partisan foreign policy and to attempt to ease the tension in southern states caused by the President's insistence on extension of constitutional civil rights to all Americans.

With the November election still almost four months ahead, this is entirely too soon for such confident predictions of the outcome as are being made by some political forecasters, and the campaign will be much enlivened—and best interests of voters served—if both parties proceed on the theory that the result will be in doubt until votes are counted and that neither over-confidence nor hopelessness should prevent full discussion of foreign and domestic issues which are vitally important to this country's future.

Eat Less Meat During Hot Weather

EXCEPT for those whose income has kept pace with outgo, meat prices are now at a practically prohibitive level—with predictions that they will go even higher.

This means that many families will be required to get along on considerably less meat than they have been accustomed to using.

Fortunately this extreme in meat prices is reached in a season of hot weather, when a considerable reduction in meat-eating is advisable in the interest of health, and it is also fortunate that the products of home gardens are becoming available for family use.

While there has already been a noticeable decline in demands for meat at retail prices making close approach to $2 a pound for so-called "choice cuts," it is interesting to note that one official comment on the situation is to the effect that "only a stiff consumer boycott can head off the spectacular spiral."

"Boycott" is not a pleasant word. It seems only necessary that common sense be exercised in confining meat purchases to the lowest possible minimum consistent with actual nutritional needs, so that supplies can become more evenly balanced with demands.

Until this practice becomes more prevalent it is unlikely that meat prices will come down. In fact—in the absence of substantial buyer resistance—they are more likely to keep on going up.

Thus far no rival of Henry Wallace is being mentioned as the third party nominee for president—so it will be Wallace or nobody, which amounts to about the same thing.

Pravda, Moscow newspaper, is reported backing down from predictions of economic collapse in America—so it may not be so bad over here as it sometimes seems.

It appears that federal bureaus are cluttered with people who were looking for jobs—not work.

The Nation Today

Politics and Television

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — Television should teach the politicians a lesson but it will take them time to learn it.

That's why the Democratic convention in Philadelphia this week will be pretty much like the Republican convention there two weeks ago.

There'll be the same long speeches, the same hoopla and demonstrations intended to show the great joy of the delegates, or something. And the endless hours will drag by, hours that could be packed with action to get the convention over and done with.

Television gives the politicians a problem they never had before. Until television came, whatever they did was seen only by a few thousand of themselves, a sort of in-the-family affair.

Soon the whole nation will be looking at their every word and gesture on an ice-cold television screen that makes the most rosy-cheeked politician look gray.

Here's an example of what's meant:

When a bullthroated orator shouts for 15 or 30 minutes- rolling his eyes, waving his arms, rocking and weaving and brushing back the hair that's fallen in his eyes—he may affect the delegates because he's near them, in the flesh.

But that same speaker- on the gray glass of television, yelling at a farmer 2,000 miles away — may seem like a ghostly windbag without a sense or dignity.

* * *

THE Republican convention started on Monday and ended on Friday. It could have been ended in two days or so, instead of five.

The Democratic convention starts today and probably will end up on Friday. It, too, could be wrapped up in a couple of days. For example:

Instead of starting at 9 a. m., the Republican convention got under way around noon.

After a couple of hours of speeches and business the first three days, it recessed until 9 p. m. for more speeches, instead of going right on.

In the past delegates have gone to conventions reconciled to sweating it out in a jam-packed hall four or five days.

This was all right for them, since they were the ones enduring it and they knew they were trapped when they started.

And nobody except themselves, and their friends and relatives in the gallaries, saw what was happening or took part in it.

Soon the whole nation can sit in its living room and watch the performance on a television screen, passing judgment.

Throwing a convention in the face of the nation, by way of the television screen, for five days is asking for a lot of patience.

As they're arranged now, the convention speeches and demonstrations are too long-drawn out to keep a television audience interested a whole week.

To what good will the high-flown speeches and cooked-up demonstrations do if they turn a television audience away in disgust or boredom?

They may lose plenty of votes, since it's the audience that's going to do the voting.

'Dilemma' Is the Word

By THOMAS L. STOKES

PHILADELPHIA — Nothing has revealed more clearly the dilemma of the Democratic party today than the preliminary proceedings preparatory to drafting a 1948 platform at its convention here.

For example, when Morris Sayre, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, appeared before the group holding public hearings on platform proposals, he was given a two-hour grilling about the policies and objectives of this big business group. He squirmed under the unsparing criticism of his inquisitors.

Here the party's traditional stand against monopolistic and greedy tendencies often found in great corporate enterprises was brought up to echo, briefly, the triumphant crusade in which Franklin D. Roosevelt once united the plain people of the country under the Democratic party banner.

The atmosphere was alive with challenge as the N. A. M. was charged with killing price control and failing to live up to its promises that removal of controls would lower prices, with seeking tax privileges for the rich and well-to-do, with trying to destroy the New Deal reforms.

The prisoner at the bar was indicted without mercy, a scapegoat for the great economic forces that are regaining control over government.

Here the party leaders on the platform group let themselves go. Here they talked freely and with one voice.

But, when advocates of President Truman's civil rights program appeared they were heard in complete silence, without interruption and, when they had concluded, not a word was said by the gentlemen at the table, not a question asked, either by the three representatives of the South or those from other parts of the country.

This silence had been imposed by agreement among the platform group so that the issue would not be fought out in public to dramatize anew the split that divides the party so bitterly. It was decided that this issue would be argued behind closed doors later.

This is the skeleton in the Democratic closet, and vainly the politicians tried to lock it up. But it won't be locked up.

* * *

Ominous Silence.

THE gentlemen about the table heard Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, as he told them, that "the day of reckoning has come when the Democratic party must decide whether it is going to permit bigots to dictate its policy"; that "the party must move forward or perish."

With an almost brutal frankness he cited figures to show that it was Negro votes that provided the margin of victory in 12 states with 228 electoral votes for the Democrats in the 1944 presidential election, and that in "reasonably close elections" Negro voters are a vital factor in some 75 congressional districts in 17 border and northern states with a total of 295 electoral votes. It was very plain talk.

In silence, too, the gentlemen of the Democratic party listened to Dr. Channing H. Tobias, distinguished Negro leader of New York, in one of the most moving and eloquent appeals ever heard by this reporter.

He confined himself in his brief, impromptu talk to segregation in the armed forces which he said is uppermost now in the minds of Negro citizens because of the new draft act.

When he had finished he departed in silence — but a silence that spoke like a mighty thunder in the still room.

And all the noisy words with which the gentleman at the table had confounded Mr. Sayre of N. A. M., all the fine phrases about economic progressivism, were as nothing, for a divided party can not win an election, and if it can not win an election it can do nothing about those high aims for the plain people.

Washington Calling

'Short-of-War' Policy

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THE AUTHORSHIP of diplomatic notes is never made known. But in the stiff note sent by the American government to Moscow the phrases of one of the authors should be readily identified by those familiar with his skill in using forceful language.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg has long had a close and friendly working relationship with Under-Secretary of State Robert A. Lovett. Scarcely had Vandenberg returned from the GOP convention in Philadelphia before the two sat down together to frame what may prove to be one of the key documents of American foreign policy.

Leaks deliberately arranged by the foreign offices in Paris and London disclosed that in the opinion of the French and British governments the note was "provocative" and that it was toned down on their insistence. Consequently, some of the warmer Vandenbergian phrases may have been eliminated.

This was not, of course, a new role for the senator from Michigan. It was a continuation of the bi-partisan foreign policy that he has made a working reality since the war's end.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey claims to have initiated the bi-parisan policy in his 1944 presidential campaign. While Dewey may have technical priority for this claim, he was acting under wartime compulsion. Since the lid has been off since the end of the war, it has been Vandenberg who has done the tough, day-to-day spade work.

The senator is in agreement with the administration's firm stand on Berlin. He believes, along with Secretary of State Marshall and Gen. Lucius Clay, American commander in Germany, that to be forced out under Soviet pressure would be to weaken the U. S. position in Europe irreparably.

* * *

Dangerous Course

ALONG with almost everyone else, Vandenberg assumes that the present crisis will be resolved short of war. That is one of the phenomena of this curious summer. Everyone goes about business, pleasure, and politics as usual.

Yet if you take the headlines from Berlin at their face value, American policy-makers are walking on the edge of an abyss that drops down to the most terrifying depths.

The key, it seems to me, lies in a psychological factor that is shared by the U. S. and the Soviet Union. It is the belief that, since neither country wants war, each side can carry the challenge a long way.

There is a very grave danger in this attitude. Both sides may be emboldened to go so far that there can be no turning back short of armed conflict.

If it were not for the conviction that each side will do everything to avoid a war, the controversy might not be pushed to such lengths.

Vandenberg has left for his home town, Grand Rapids. He will stay there until the end of July and then he and Mrs. Vandenberg hope to go on a Scandinavian cruise. They are planning now to leave for Great Britian about August 1 and join a holiday cruise there.

The senator needs a vacation and most Americans would agree that he richly deserves one. The session of Congress that ended on the eve of the Republican convention saw him in the middle of one struggle after another for the great objectives of a responsible foreign policy.

What his role will be in January, assuming Dewey's election, is still a matter of speculation. Certainly, millions of independent voters, who would have chosen Vandenberg over Dewey, will regard him today as the leader of his party in the foreign field and they will be disappointed if Dewey does not work with him.

Nomination of Truman Favored By GOP

By DREW PEARSON

PHILADELPHIA — No matter who else may be for him, there is no doubt about the fact that Harry S. Truman is the favorite Democratic candidate — of the Republican party. GOP leaders are keeping their fingers crossed, hoping, praying that this convention will not fail to nominate their man.

Reasons behind their prayers are manifold and some quite obvious. One which is not so obvious is the fact that the Republicans have been saving up some of their juiciest scandals on the Truman administration to be publicized this summer — after the Philadelphia convention. They don't want to break the scandals too soon; first, for fear Truman won't be nominated; second, because memory is short.

One scandal is the contributions given to the Kansas City primary which elected Mr. Truman's hand-picked congressional candidate, Enos Axtell, in 1946. It so happens that big-talking General Harry Vaughan, the White House military aide, collected some cash from certain people in this campaign, which should make sensational reading. Only a small part of this Kansas City scandal has ever been told.

* * *

Truman's Friends

ANOTHER juicy connection which the Republicans intend to expose between now and election is the association between the White House gang and a partner of Frankie Costello, biggest kingpin gambler of the nation.

The New York State Liquor Authority has now made public officially the long-suspected fact that William Helis, the New Orleans race-horse owner, is associated with Frankie Costello and ex-convict "Dandy" Phil Castell as owners of the William Whitely Distilling Company in Scotland. Both were pals of Lucky Luciano and the undisputed lords of the New York underworld.

This is the same William Helis whose room at the Hotel Statler Mr. Truman occupied after the Ahepa dinner at which the President spoke and Helis presided. Outside Helis's hotel room on this occasion stood John Maragon, an ex-bootlegger, acting as a guard in keeping other dinner guests out of the room while Mr. Truman and Mr. Helis chinned inside.

* * *

Books and Good Will

PROBABLY the Republicans haven't got wind of it yet, but sooner or later they may also smell out some highly interesting commercial aspects about the President's recent trip to Bolivar, Mo. It illustrates how Mr. Truman unwittingly jumps into things which look perfectly innocent on the surface but which sometimes have international repercussions.

Probably he didn't know, when he agreed to go out to Bolivar, Mo., to dedicate a bust of the famous South American hero, that the scheme was cooked up by a publishing house, originally to promote the sale of pamphlets about Bolivar and Latin American countries.

Again it was General Vaughan, the smiling, irrepressible military aide, who sold the President on a venture which isn't going to help our relations with Latin America.

It happens that General Vaughan is a great friend of Dr. John M. C. Crane, writer of pamphlets on Latin America. Crane was looking for a way to promote the sale of his pamphlets, and approached Vaughan on the idea of setting up "The Simon Bolivar Memorial Foundation." Truman also was approached, and among other things was told that this important ceremony held in the town of Bolivar, Mo., (population 3,500) would help the chance of carrying his home state.

At any rate, The Simon Bolivar Foundation was set us with Harry S. Truman as chairman and "co-founder" and John M. C. Crane Foundation was set up with Harry Truman's name at the top it was easy to get South American ambassadors to serve, and also to get the president of Venezuela to come to the United States on the special Truman airplane "Independence."

President Romulo Gallegos is one of the true leaders of Latin America, a former author, and a crusader for Latin American democracy. Naturally he had no idea, when he accepted the invitation that he was playing into the hands of book promoters.

However, on the special train which bore the two presidents out to Missouri was also Don Farran, publishing partner of Dr. Crane, and E. F. Gillian, his business manager.

While the trip of President Gallegos to the United States was most important and while a statue to Bolivar in Bolivar, Mo., is a fine thing, it could have been accomplished without having been linked to a commercial scheme.

That is the kind of thing Mr. Truman sometimes naively gets tangled up in, as a result of the "Missouri Gang" around him.

Band-Wagon Loading Up

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — With the Democratic national convention underway in Philadelphia, now seems as good a time as any to point out that the band-wagon influence is having just about its hottest year in the American political scramble.

And already it has proved to be as fickle a lass as ever was wooed by an ambitious campaigner.

With that in mind, it might be well for the boys to remember that it's still a long, long way to November, and—but let's look at the record thus far this campaign year.

On the Republican side of the political fence, the effects of the band-wagon influence popped up again and again, and often with exactly opposite results. Take the Stassen case, for instance.

As the year started, few of the experts gave the man from Minnesota much of a chance. After all, he had broken practically all the old campaign traditions by announcing his presidential aspirations a couple of years in advance, and then stumping the country—and parts of the world—in a personal effort to make them bear fruit.

Also, it was pretty generally conceded that Stassen was not too popular with the big wheels within the party, and that certainly was bound to work against him when the ballots were in at nominating time.

All in all, Stassen was just about counted out even before the election year got well underway.

But that was before his band-wagon got rolling.

Along came a couple of primaries, and Stassen led the pack—much to the amazement and embarrassment of many a political prophet. Public opinion polls (which this year seem to have a curious habit of following the news, rather than preceding it) suddenly showed Stassen's popularity growing by leaps and bounds.

And all the prophets, as if to atone for their previous error, immediately began to emphasize the importance of the Minnesotan's candidacy.

Then, just as suddenly, a couple of developments yanked the rug out from under Stassen, and the air was full of leaping bodies as people deserted his band-wagon in droves.

That is only one example of what happened on the Republican side. There were many others almost as dramatic.

* * *

Let Others Predict.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN has been on both ends of the band-wagon business this year—that is to say, he has both suffered from it and he has profited by it. Either may happen to him again.

Naturally, Truman's popular fortunes did not fare so well during the Eisenhower boom. By the same token, when the so-called southern revolt was in full cry a few months ago, millions of formerly fairly solid Democrats fell over one another jumping on the anti-Truman band-wagon.

At that time, this somewhat cynical correspondent wrote a piece saying that the southern revolt probably wouldn't stick and that Truman couldn't be counted out of the picture yet.

For my pains, I was bawled out, publicly and personally, by the governor of one southern state and some high-ranking officials of another. In both instances, I was assured—much to the amusement of some of my colleagues—that I didn't know what I was talking about. That this was no band-wagon business but the real thing, and that the southern anti-Truman bloc would desert the party, if necessary.

Today, it is a matter of record that both of those states have abandoned their anti-Truman band-wagon and are sticking solidly with the Democratic party.

The only point to all the foregoing chatter is that now, once again, there seems to be a terrific stampede to see who can predict the biggest defeat for Truman in the fall—and who can say most often that the Democratic party will collapse after the election, and never be revived.

Once again, the boys are climbing on a band-wagon.

Not me! I bruise too easy from those falls. This time I'm just gonna sit around and watch. I've seen too many Garrison finishes already this year to put all my money on a front-running horse—even at the three-quarter pole!

PHILADELPHIA (Before the Storm) — Democratic delegates look like Republican delegates with more on their mind.

The average delegate is 42 years old, hasn't had to worry about a candidate for 16 years and wishes he didn't have to now.

* * *

If he is married, he brought his wife with him and will explain to her what is happening at the convention just as soon as he finds out.

* * *

Except for their state pins delegates look much alike except that those who came uninstructed look a little happier.

You hear more Truman talk than anything else in the lobbies. . . . Some of it real nice. . . . And Jimmie Roosevelt says if Mr. Truman is nominated "we will do all we can to help him."

Timely Editorial

Alongside the Driver.

A new angle on the highway safety subject appears in an article in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical association. A Detroit plastic surgeon, drawing on his own experience in treating accident victims, writes that the death seat in an auto is the front seat beside the driver. He says that 70 per cent of the persons killed or injured were those sitting in the right front death seat.

If anything can check the mounting toll of highway deaths, it seems to us that it should be the widest possible publicity given these statistics. Apparently, nothing will make many automobile drivers consider their own safety. But if they know that the person sitting beside them runs twice the risk when they take their chances, perhaps they will show more consideration for others. — Toledo Blade.

Farmer's Diary

The Season Progresses

By CALVIN A. BYERS

Henry David Thoreau said that he could tell about what date it might be, if he were permitted to observe the plants of the fields and woods.

I saw these, in our valley, just today: A bleaching field of tangled rye, bent by hail some weeks ago; long stems of wood lily budding profusely along the hedge; wild roses dropping petals that exuded perfume; lacy elderberry blooms in drifts along the line fence; clustering wild black raspberries wet with early dew; hickory nuts in bunches of fine green quartered balls; knots of acorns on scrub and white oaks; two fields of wheat, one shocked, the other bronzing in the sun.

I saw a farmer's wagon rock along the crest of a grade and heard it groan and creak as the hay tumbled on from a loader.

Up front, two barefoot boys and a little giggling girl looked out through the uprights. One boy held the lines taut above the heads of the big gray team.

Half buried in the odorous hay, the youngsters crouched on top, when their father drove the towering load toward the barn. They squealed and scrooged to avoid the top of the big barn door, and their father too fell on his face and rolled under.

Corn stands waist high and deep verdant green ready to flaunt its first ropelike tassel. One more week and the gold of the wheat, the bleaching yellow of oats, the white rye will have changed for another season. The fresh-mown sward shows seared places about the center of the field.

Huckleberries are blue, nettles are head high, thistles are budded. Soybeans make a soft green carpet. Cherries are gone.

Water in the hoglot is reduced to a wallow hole. It is necessary to carry clean water for the animals to drink. One sow farrowed beside the water hole and drowned four pigs. Only three were left. We drove the others into the barn for safekeeping.

All the boys have been "working out" for the neighbors some afternoons. Things seem very dead and quiet around home when that is so.

The Former Marilyn Whitacre Honored With Showers, Parties

Mrs. A. D. Miller was hostess last week for a miscellaneous shower party given for Miss Marilyn Whitacre, bride-elect of Ennis Walker.

Contests were conducted and prizes were presented to the honoree

When refreshments were served the table was centered with a miniature bride and her attendants. Favors were tiny brides to which were attached miniature pictures of the bride-elect.

Recordings of nuptial airs were played while the guests were eating. Then the wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played as little Sara Jayne Miller, cousin of Miss Whitacre, entered the room.

She was dressed in bridal attire and carried a bouquet of daisies which she presented to the honoree. Concealed in the bouquet Miss Whitacre found a note disclosing the location of her shower gifts

Another shower given recently for Miss Whitacre was at the home of Mrs. Cletus Swelgard of Ashland, who will serve as matron of honor at the weddings.

Bridge was the diversion of the evening and prices were won by Miss Norma Wilhelm and Mrs. Gerald Keplinger, who presented them to the honoree.

Before refreshments were served at small tables in the living room, Miss Whitacre opened her gifts.

Astowela Club Given Program

Twenty-two members of the Astowela Garden club met at the home of Mrs. C V. McConnell, Woodhill road Friday. Mrs D. S. Porch was the associate hostess A buffet luncheon was served from a table centered with an arrangement of pink and white petunias. Mrs. Paul McConnell and Mrs. Jay Palmer presided at the table. Other lovely bouquets of mixed flowers were placed in the living room.

The president, Miss Grace Wolcott, opened the meeting with a paper "How to Treat One of Your Very Best Friends, the Toad." Mrs. L A Ott, bird chairman, spoke of the red bird, telling the difference between the cardinal and the tananger. Mrs. C. V. McConnell, horticulture chairman, advised the members to soak their grounds well before going on their vacations.

Miss Wolcott gave reports of two meetings she attended. One was at Cleveland, when the presidents of the Ohio Garden clubs were present and the other when she was a guest at the Cottage Garden club meeting recently.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. C W. Fox, who gave an interesting paper on mechanics of gardening. She showed the contrast of old time gardening by "Auntie Kay in her Sun Bonnet and Calico Dress" and the present day gardening by the glamor girl in her shorts and halter.

The next meeting will be July 23 at Westbrook Country club with Mrs W. G. Black and Mrs. C. L Willsey as hostesses.
